

LIVING IN A GREEN HOUSE

You care for the earth when you're cleaning up a park or walking in an Earth Day parade. You can also help our planet from your own home. From the shower to the refrigerator, you constantly use energy and resources at home. And everything in your house — TV, toothpaste, tennis shoes — needs energy to manufacture, package, and transport. That adds up to lots of choices — to waste resources or to conserve. Even small changes in your daily habits can help the earth. Over time, you can have a big impact.

Look around the Verde home to find the words missing from these energy-saving tips. Write them in the blanks. Then try the tips at your house.
